A LEXANDRIA. VA FRIDAY EVENING OCTOBER 31.

THE CHARGES against General Lee up to date are that he has got nothing for the district, that he has not given offices to all who wanted them, that he failed to have the Mt. Vernon Avenue bill passed, that he was commissioned as an army officer through the influence of General Scott, the friend and admirer of his father, that he is the son of General Robert E. Lee and that he is an aristocrat. A terrible list surely. Senator Barbour says General Lee has got more for the district than he was able to get as its representative. President Cleveland would not remove republicans from office, so that the General couldn't get any under his administration, and it has been usaless for him to try to get any under Mr. Harrison. The republicans in Congress defeated the Mt. Vernon Avenue bill, for the reason, gs they said, that those most active in its support were land speculators. If a young man, not a West Point cadet, ever received a military commission, in time of peace, without somebody's influence, the case has not been recorded. General Lee does not sit on store boxes at railroad stations and whittle sticks, nor in the city is he a street corner lourger and mouther, but if he be an aristocrat everybody who knows him will swear that all the dictionaries are wrong. It is true that he is the son of General Robert E Lee, but though that fact might hurt him if he were running for Congress in the North, it should not do so in the South, certainly not in Virginia, and absolutely not in his father's own town and caucty.

THOSE democraes in New York city who have united with the republicans in order to defeat the Temmany Hall ticket, are not will man in their generation. If they sucched, they will, to be sure, prevent the nom loation of Gov. Hill for the Presidency, because he is afficiated with Tammany; but they will, just as certainly, prevent the nomination of ex-President Cieveland, who is affiliated with themselves, for human nature is weak, and though Tammany supported him against its will in 1884 and 1888, it would be too much to expect it to do so egain in '92, after the part he has taken against it in '90

DURING all the years General Les has been in Congress, he has never, by his vote ie that body, disappointed any man who had east a ballot for him. Mr. Hume was elected to the Virginia Legislature as a debt payer, and yet, during his short term of service, a little over three months, in that body, he voted to depreciate Virginia coupops still further, by prohibiting their receivability in payment of l'quor licenses. Dieappointment is the lot of man, but he dosan't banker after it.

ON WEDNESDAY last the Reading Rail. road Company issued orders to all its employees in Pennsylvania, 35 000 in number that they must vote the republican ticket nex: Tuesday, or be discharged. But of a l the northern shrickers for a "free vote" in the South, few are louder than the republicans of Pennsylvania. What response will the railroad men of Virginia make to this buildczing attempt to deprive their fellow workmen in a northern Stare of their politi

FROM WASHINGTON. [Special Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 31, 1890. According to the census, as revised and corrected at the census bureau here to-day, the population of Alexandria city for the year 1890 is 14,318, an increase of 659, or 4 82 per cent. on that of 1880, when it was

J. M. Laugaton, the negro republican candidate for Congress in the Petersburg district, is here to-day. He says he will be elected by 8 000 m jority. The fact that he has suspended his campaign to come here and have urgent business at republican headquarters looks as if he is alarmed at the circular of General Mahone advising the republicans of his district to defeat him, and that he needs assistance badly and is here to seek it, and that his boast has no real foundation.

The impression here to-day on the sulject, defeat the democratic ticket in New York city next Tuesday, and thereby make it im possible for any New Yorker to obtain the homination of the next national democratic defeat the said Mr. Frank Hume had not so generous y and so just y gone on their bond! Very respectfully. The Wage Workers Political Aniance of Washington, D. C.

The news here to day from the 8th con gressional district of Virginia is to the effect that while the negro vote of that distric will be cast almost solidiy for Mr. Hume, the defection in the democratic vote is by no means as great as reported, and will probably be offset by white republican support, as the white people of that district now realize the fact that their dearest interests depend upon their standing together. Well informed Pennsylvania republicans, here to-day, say that Deismater willipul through by the skin of his teeth, but that the republicans there will lose two congressmen, and that the blow will be a "crusher" 6) Benator Quay.

The football clubs of the University of Virginia and the University of Pennsylvapia are here, and if the weather shall permit will play a match game this afternoon. A Straightout Republican's Views To the Republican Voters of the Eighth Congressional District of Virginia: A circular is being widely circulated, signed by O. E. Hine, criticising the committee appointed to issue an address to the republican voters of the district. The committee was appointed by the straightout re publicans on the adjournment of the Manassas convention. The charges Major Hine makes against the rest of the committee I cannot snawer, for I admit that I voted for the delegate from my district, but I say he betrayed the confidence I had in him as a republican by casting his vote at the convention in favor of the independent democratic candidate. I claim that it is dishonorable for any man or set of men to undertake to deprive the republicans of the district of the right to vote for a man to represent their principles in the 52 id Congress, and I also claim that Mahone was a traitor to the principles of the republican party when he advised non action in his private circular letters to his trusted fleutenants after expressing his willingness to leave it to the people. I expected to hear some of the prominent gentleman at the convention state why we should not be allowed to cast our vote for a man who was in sympathy with the principles of the republican party, but the only reason offered was by one delegate, that he was tired of putting up money and working for nothing; tired of putting up good men and having them shot down by Lee. It mi kee no d if rence to me if I am to be shot by the enemy, who fires the shot. It will hart none the worse if fired by a general than a private. If I have been rightly inormed the mejor has been playing with the temocratic cars for some time and will probably make a good parsman for the reform candidate, but it is no use Major, to steer up Colvin, for there are no republicans here who will mind your pleadings not to spurn the overtures made to them by the liberals I doesn't look very liberal when the independent candidate and his few independent foil wers want the apublicans to sacrifictheir principles and join them in reforming the democra is party. They want the minority to raie the majority. If the sgainst charges be true the reformers make Gen Lee, the independents knew them wo years and four years ago. Why did bey support him then and now bolt and cry reform, reform? It they are tired of the trickery, fraud and Chinese methods that they calm exist in their party, why don't they leave it? We will welcome them on condition that they follow but not attempt to i-ad, for we are tired of being led by such leaders. I am sorry that so many man who call themsalves republicans are being led of into strange company. Evil communicamakes bad men. I have been informed that Mr. Hine did not vote for a man on the republican ticket last fall because Mahoue was on it, but he now paddles the canos and dances while Mahone whistles his tune and beats time with his foot for him to follow the reformers of the democratic party. I will say, republicane, if you have a principle and believe in the principles of the republican party, how will you vote?
